Detailed Description of Use:
The Green Screen App is certainly one that can be used by all populations of students to enrich their products. Students can write a description of what they wish to say and then record themselves in front of a green screen. On the app, students can add images to share behind them and they can add sound or music as well to enhance the video. The app is very easy to use and after one simple tutorial, students are able to truly be the directors of their learning. The district owns enough copies of the app for a class to use at a time, but they have to be requested for specific use from the technology department.
