Detailed Description of Use:
Teachers create a grid which is your community of learners. Within that grid, you will create topics which are the discussion starters or prompts. Students can then create a response to the topic in the form of a video. If allowed, students can reply to the responses that are posted in the topic. Students can be quite creative with their videos using the tools provided on the website. Teachers can provide "vibes" on student responses that everyone can see or private feedback that only the video creator can see.
